

Privacy Statement

We appreciate your interest in our company and our website. Despite careful control of our contents, we are not liable for any external links leading to different materials.

Protection of your privacy is a particular concern for us while collecting, processing and using them regarding your visit to our website. Legal regulations protect your data.

Below, you will find information about data that can be collected during your visit to our website and its usage:

1. Collecting and Processing of Data

Each access to our website as well as to any file available on the website is being recorded. Saving of this information serves for internal system-relating and statistic purposes. The collected data are: name of the accessed file, date and time of the access, assigned data size, the message about the successful file access, web browser and referring domain. Also, the IP addresses of the referring computer are being recorded. Further personal data are collected only in case, if they are given on a voluntary basis, for example regarding an inquiry or registration.

2. Usage of Cookies

In some cases, providing for certain information and functions is only possible, if we process the data about you or the computer used by you responsibly. We use the so-called cookies. These help us to make our offers more user-friendly, efficient and safe. Cookies are small data packages that are being stored on your computer. Cookies contain no privacy data, but information that is useful for us to optimize the functionality of our websites. Certain functions are available only then if you accept the application of function relating cookies. Accessing the booking and inquiry procedure - a so called session cookie will be installed on your computer and deleted automatically immediately after you finish the process. Most of the browsers offer the possibility to deny cookies applications. Usually, this can be set directly on your computer. However, this can lead to a limited usability of our yacht charter portal.

3. Usage and Forwarding of Personal Data

It is an important part of our business concept to collect and process personal data. Especially the intermediation for the services offered on our yacht charter portal, e.g. charter yachts and insurances, requires collecting of personal data and forwarding it to yacht charter companies, agencies or insurance companies to enable them to contact you and sign a legal binding charter contract for your charter yacht or an insurance contract. The following data can be forwarded (if provided by you during your inquiry procedure): address, e-mail, name, and surname, telephone and fax numbers as well as the services chosen or ordered by you.

Everyone can use our yacht charter portal without leaving his personal data to us. Should you decide to make an inquiry or a booking on our yacht charter portal, you accept the conditions of usage of your personal information as described above. Once given your acceptance, you reserve the right to revoke it anytime for the future.

Deleting of saved personal data will be effected, unless there are legal reasons against, if you withdraw your acceptance to data saving, the data is not necessary anymore for the purpose it was once saved for, or the saving is not allowed due to other legal reasons.

In specific cases, we are legally obliged to forward your personal data to third parties, as far as it serves for clarification of a misuse of the yacht charter portal or general asserting our legal rights. In such cases, personal data can only be forwarded to damaged third parties or legal prosecution authorities. This is also valid in cases when the contractual relationship is already finished. An indispensable condition for any data forwarding, however, shall be justified and documented evidence of a misuse of the yacht charter portal.

4. Right of Access to Personal Data

On written inquiry, we will gladly inform you about your personal data saved by us.
